‘This milestone for GOMA and Brisbane is being marked by a new public artwork by Queensland Indigenous artist Judy Watson, and major free exhibitions, including: ‘Lucent’, showcasing art of Australia and the Pacific; a second chapter of ‘A World View: The Tim Fairfax Gift’, including a captivating new light work by renowned artist Anthony McCall; and the spectacular ‘Sugar Spin: you, me, art and everything’, featuring over 200 contemporary artworks exploring light, space, architecture and the senses. From brand-new immersive works to large-scale visitor favourites, ‘Sugar Spin’ reflects our complex connections to the natural world with an explosion of colour, sensation and spinning delights’ (GoMA website)

This excursion is significant to the Preliminary and HSC courses. It includes a broad investigation of museum, curatorial, and contemporary artmaking practices; covering a diverse range of individual and collaborative artists and artworks. The knowledge and understanding gained from attending the excursion will be used in case studies, assessment tasks and exams, as well as informing and influencing the student own artmaking practice.
